

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	i	Shoshone Mike and the Basques, by Monika Madinabeitia	107
Foreword		Revision of American Indian Stereotypes and Post-Indian Identity in Sherman Alexie's Flight , by Elisa Mateos	121
Elegy and the Defiance of Elegy: Longing and Writing in the American West, by Gregory Martin	iii	The Pros and Cons of Writing Confessional Memoir in the Mormon Milieu, by Phyllis Barber	137
Introduction		Part III: Cultural Transfers
Reconsidering Western Writing Beyond the Regional Imaginary and its Mythic Borders by David Rio	xiii	Film and Chicano I/dentity in Tino Villanueva's Scene from the Movie GIANT , by Juan Ignacio Guijarro	157
Part I: Continuity and Renewal		"Wagon Train to the Stars": Star Trekkin' the U.S. Western Frontier, by Stefan Rabitsch	177
The Rural West as Frontier: A Myth for Modern America, by J. Dwight Hines	3	From California to Jarama Valley: Woody Guthrie's Folk Banditry, by David Fenimore	203
David Guterson's The Other : The Doppelganger Tradition Visits the American North West, by Aitor Ibarrola	29	How Some of the West Was Lost in Translation: The Influence of Franco's Censorship on Spanish Westerns, by Carmen Camus	233
That Boy Ain't Right: Jimmy Blevins, John Grady Cole, and Mythic Masculinity in All the Pretty Horses , by Maria O'Connell	49	Notes on Contributors	255
Western Images in Paul Auster's Work: From Moon Palace to Later Fiction, by Jesús Ángel González	63	Index	263
Part II: Beyond Stereotypes
Affective Critical Regionalism in D.J. Waldie's Suburban West, by Neil Campbell	87		