

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	i	A Portrait of Death in El Paso–Juárez Border: Alicia Gaspar de Alba’s Desert Blood , by Andrea Perales Fernández de Gamboa	101
Foreword
Places: Existing and Non-existing, by Bernardo Atxaga (Translation by Monika Madinabeitia)	iii	Representations of the Diaspora in Basque Children and Young People’s Literature, by Mari Jose Olaziregi	115
Introduction
The Cowboy Was Never Alone, by Amaia Ibarrran	xv	Anatomy of a Gunfighter: A Reflection upon Roland of Gilead and The Dark Tower Saga, by Luis Diaz Pulido	127
Part I: Other Forms of Expression		Part III: Other “Other” Identities
A Way in the Middle: Phyllis Barber’s Questions Need No Answer...Or Maybe They Do, by Angel Chaparro Sainz	3	The Western Hero in the American Frontier: Myth vs. Reality, by Maria Jesús de Teresa Paredes	141
“At Odds”: Diaries, Memoirs, and the Illusion of the Authentic Westerner, by Linda K. Karell	21	“The Best Bread I Ever Ate:” Male Housekeepers and Women Writers of the Frontier, by Cathryn Halverson	157
Sculpture in Motion: The Art of Storytelling in the Work of Leslie Marmon Silko and N. Scott Momaday by Mirja Lobnik	39	Playing Tough, Queering the Myth: Cowboy Imagery in American Gay Culture and Drama, by Alfonso Ceballos Muñoz	169
Cormac McCarthy’s The Crossing : Speaking and Telling “in the used to be,” by Jennifer L. Vala	53	Appendix
Part II: Other Western Experiences		Against All Odds, by Frances Beckner Thompson	189
Empowering Spaces, In-corporating (Alter)Native Resistance, by Maria Felisa López Liqueste	69	Notes on Contributors	195
A Different West: Two American Writers’ Response to the Western Frontier, by Olga González Calvo	87	Index	203